PARADE AND CEREMONY MARKED OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY LOCALLY

Day Also Indicated Opening of Campaign for Red Cross Membership—Two Descriptive Floats Win Applause—Local School Bands and War Veterans in Long Line of March.

Armistice Day was celebrated in Bay St. Louis on Saturday with an impressive parade and ceremonies in which a large number of persons from civic and other bodies participated all under the direction of Sheriff-elect Horace L. Kergosien, Red Cross Roll Call chairman.

Legionnaire Leo G. Ford and Legionnaire Henry Capdepon represented the local Clermont Bontemps Post of Hancock County, and Captain J. W. Peairs the Spanish-American war veterans, along with their associate members.

The parade formed at the courthouse and marching began from there to Union street, down Union to S. Beach Boulevard and up the beach to Carroll avenue, thence to Bay High School where a short program was given, opening the Red Cross Roll Call.

Members of the local American Legion Post and of the Red Cross Chapter united in making the parade one of the best ever witnessed in Bay St. Louis. It was headed by city and county police, and thirteen Legionnaires mounted on horses. The ladies of the local Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, in white and carrying flags, preceded a large number of students of Central High School and St. Joseph Academy. Also noted in the parade, notably clad in their uniforms, were members of the Girl and Boy Scout troops, carrying their banners, and also of the Sea Scouts and Girl Mariners.

The two school bands, St. Stanislaus College and Central High School, with their drum majors giving excellent exhibitions of twirling, played marches and added brilliance to the parade in their bright colored uniforms.

Two floats, one representing the Unknown Soldier with a flag-draped casket thereon, and a uniformed soldier blowing taps and the other the Red Cross, with girls in Red Cross costume, elicited comment along the way for the symbols they depicted and the artistic decorating and amount of effort displayed in native clad in their uniforms were decorated under the direction of Miss Louise Armstrong, with Roland Tallac assisting, and Mesdames Henry Fayard, E. J. Lacoste, Mrs. Roland Tallac and Miss Mary Weinberger. The trucks on which the floats were designed were loaned by Charles Beam and Robert Camors, respectively.

At the Central High School Auditorium, George R. Rea, Red Cross chapter chairman for Hancock county, spoke briefly on the importance of the day and stressed the great need of Red Cross Roll Call at all times, but stated the great need of today for help to the wounded and refugees of war-torn Europe. Mr. Rea then introduced Dan M. Russell, Jr., local attorney, as speaker of the day.

Mr. Russell's address was noted for its excellence and was one of the high spots of the day's ceremonial observance. It will be found published in full elsewhere in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo.

The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Andrew Jackson Boyles, a spirituality of lasting memory.

School Bands Contribute. It was quite a colorful contribution to the parade to note the band of St. Stanislaus College and also that of Bay High School, the first in their colorful uniforms of red and the latter in blue, combined with the white trousers forming a combination of the tri-colors of the flag.

This was one of the outstanding parades we have seen in Bay St. Louis and reflects more than ordinary credit to those responsible for its conception and execution. It was noteworthy that the route of parade was lined with an outpouring of people of this city and surrounding country. Local business people seemingly vied with one another in decorating the exterior of their places of business. The American flag well defined our spirit of Americanism and served as well to accentuate definitely our objectives and gestures of loyalty and patriotism.

MRS. EVANS' MOTHER PASSES AWAY AT HER HOME TOWN IN TENN.

Victim of Heart Attack—Well Known Locally, Visiting Here Periodically For Many Years.

A message received here Tuesday afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans of Bay St. Louis, from Kingsport, Tenn., carried sad tidings to not only the family but to the community.

Mrs. George S. Boyd, mother of Mrs. Evans had died suddenly that afternoon while seated in an automobile and out with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Stone, who resides at Kingsport. A sudden heart attack brought a long and beautiful life to its close.

Mrs. Evans left for Kingsport the same night and was accompanied to Kingsport, where she boarded the Southern R. R. train by Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Shipp, Mrs. C. C. McDonald and Dr. Evans and their young son, James. The funeral was set to take place Thursday.

Mrs. Boyd was a frequent visitor to Bay St. Louis for some thirty-odd years ago and was well and widely known and generally loved for her gentleness and sweet and sympathetic character. Only fourteen months ago Mr. and Mrs. Boyd had celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Mr. Boyd died November 17, 1938.

He had been prominent all his life. A resident of Dresden, Tenn., he was successful as a banker and a landlord farmer. Retiring from active life he moved to Kingsport.

In addition to the two daughters above mentioned, a son, Eugene Boyd, an attorney at Memphis, Tenn., survives.

Mr. Boyd spent the greater part of each winter in Bay St. Louis and was to have visited here again this season at a later date. She was 80 years of age remarkable for her age. Truly a good woman has gone to her reward. She was an ardent member of the church, a worker in the cause of humanity and a spirituality for all that is blessed.

Mrs. Evans and other members of the family have the deepest sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Central High School Band Journeys To Gulfport Vets. Hospital.

The Central School Band of fifty-five members in two school busses journeyed to the Veterans' Hospital at Gulfport on Wednesday afternoon and gave a concert before the inmates of the hospital. Transportation was furnished through the kindness of the Spanish War Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary. Accompanying the band to Gulfport were Professor Morgan and Mesdames W. S. Speer, C. Nolan, M. Hogan and Dunning.

The concert was greatly enjoyed by the veterans and the band upheld its splendid reputation with an excellent program presented.

Electric Meters In Bay St. Louis Show Bay City Growth.

R. Terrell Perkins' advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue of The Echo is unusually interesting inasmuch as it is informative and refutes the plaint of the knocker that Bay St. Louis is retrograding.

Mr. Perkins says in his advertisement: Did you know that—January 1, 1925 there were 638 electric meters in Bay St. Louis. December 25, 1935, the number had increased to 1123. And on October 25, 1939 a total in use of 1501. Other figures in the advertisement refutes the charges frequently heard around town by people who knock.

MRS. C. C. McDONALD ADDRESSES GARDEN CLUB AT MEETING

Says "The Apathy and Indifference of Average Citizens Something to Give Alarm."

At the regular monthly meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club held on Tuesday night at Hotel Reed, Mrs. C. C. McDonald, prominent Club woman and eminent speaker addressed the members of the club, her subject being "Civic Pride."

Mrs. McDonald stated in part: "Civic Pride has a negative teaching and stated that the Garden Club is an influence which means much to the community and displays the type of spirit and cooperation which is necessary for the upbuilding of a community. The educated citizen accepts his civic duties and if we are unwilling to assume our own share of responsibility, we are letting democracy down, which, after all means a way of living. The apathy and indifference of the average citizen is something to give alarm."

A discussion was held on means for enabling the Club to carry out its road beautification plan and suggestions were submitted to the committee in charge, of which Mrs. John N. Stewart, is chairman.

The meeting was an interesting one and was well attended and the report made on the flower show held last Saturday and Sunday was splendid. In the absence of Mrs. J. A. Evans, chairman of the flower show, Mrs. George R. Rea, president, gave the report.

SIDELINERS PLAN FOR BIG PARADE

Everybody Invited to Join in Final Night March—Merchants Asked to Decorate.

The Sideliners of Saint Stanislaus are making preparations to have one of the largest "pop" parades to the football stadium for the Rock-A-Chaws' final night game of the season against Biloxi. The parade will begin at 7:20 this Friday night, November 17.

The cars will be lined along the beach. The first machine will park in front of the Merchants Bank. In order to facilitate the entrance into the stadium, students will be on hand with admission tickets so that there will be no waiting at the gate.

All local football fans are invited to join in the motorcade. It is the wish of the club that the cars be decorated. Crepe paper or bunting in Stanislaus colors—scarlet and black—may be secured from the office of Saint Stanislaus throughout the day.

Merchants are requested to decorate their places of business. The Sideliners are anxious to show the Biloxians that Bay St. Louis has as much spirit as any town along the Coast.

The Stanislaus band will leave the campus at 7 o'clock and will march to the Beach drug store. After playing several numbers, the band, under the leadership of the drum majors, will begin the parade. All drivers of cars should be ready to

The Flower Show given on Saturday and Sunday, under auspices of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, in the former Post Office Building on Main street, the first flower show to be given in Bay St. Louis was attended by four hundred persons, all enthusiastic in their praise of the beautiful showing of cut flowers, potted plants and shrubs. There were one hundred and seventy exhibits and the entire building was transformed into a bower of plants and flowers with the walls and windows banked with shrubs and autumn leaves and flowers.

There were exhibits of roses in large variety of specimens and the dahlias and chrysanthemums were gorgeously displayed. A potted fern was displayed with prongs several feet in length and numerous dainty and attractive varieties of flowers were exhibited in miniature vases and bowls of various sizes and shapes. There was also a very clever exhibit of cacti plants, and a large bowl of fruit cleverly arranged, added color to the display. One had no idea of the many and rare plants to be found in our local gardens.

The exhibit of wild flowers and grasses by the Girl Scout Troop was worthy of note.

The judges for the show were: Mrs. R. G. Cox, Gulf Park College, Mrs. J. T. Livergood, Pass Christian, and Mrs. D. J. Williams, Gulfport.

There were many blue ribbons awarded, the sweepstake ribbon going to Mrs. Paul Planchet with Mrs. Clara Shearer as runner-up with only one point less than Mrs. Planchet for their dahlias displays.

A wire basket of different kinds of bulbs donated by Mrs. Walter B. Price, of Pass Christian, was won by Mrs. Louis D. Maumus, the number contained in the basket being five hundred and fifty bulbs, and Mrs. Maumus guessing the exact number.

A register was kept and visitors came to the show from New Orleans and all Coast towns.

The Committee in charge was headed by Mrs. James A. Evans, executive chairman, and Mrs. Max Kohler was in charge. The Garden Club, under the able leadership of Mrs. George R. Rea, president, last spring won a number of prizes for their exhibits at the flower show held in Long Beach during the Fiesta and their first flower show will linger in the memories of those fortunate enough to have witnessed the beautiful exhibits and arrangements of flowers and plants.

Blue Ribbon Winners Mrs. Paul Planchet, Mrs. Clara Shearer, Dr. M. J. Wolfe, Mrs. W. J. Gex, Jr., Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. E. J. McConnell, Mrs. Max Kohler, Miss Hilda Sick, Mrs. George E. Pitcher, St. Stanislaus College, Mrs. A. P. Smith, Mrs. Raoul Telhard, Mrs. L. D. Maumus, Miss Melvie Kergosien, Miss Levia Engman, Miss Lucy Richardson, Mrs. P. E. Porter, Mrs. A. Boyd, Mrs. J. Kergosien, and the Girl Scouts.

Rare Cacti Showing Mrs. George R. Rea, president, expressed gratification at the success of the collection and display and commented specifically on many of the various flowers and plants.

Miss Lucy Garrett, president Pass Christian Garden Club, was lavish in her praise of the show and said it was one of the best she had yet seen, for variety, beauty and completeness.

An authority commented with praise and emphasis on the cacti exhibit in which Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, Mrs. S. Gilmore and Miss Merle Kergosien, contributed unusual and abundant collection. Mrs. Moreau was personally collected in Old Mexico and parts of Texas.

Patrolmen with their sirens will be on hand to clear traffic.

Let everyone be on hand to co-operate in making the parade one of the largest of the season.

CITY LOSES ONE OF ITS POTENTIAL RESIDENTS BY DEATH THURSDAY A. M.

Mrs. Rita L. Breath Succumbs to Heart Ailment Thursday After Weeks' Acute Ailment—Last Rites at 10 O'clock This Friday Morning—Interment in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Rita Leonhard Boardman-Breath, native of New Orleans, and a resident of Bay St. Louis for the past 53 years, died at her home on North Beach Boulevard Thursday morning of this week, November 16, 1939, at 3:35 o'clock.

Her passing was not wholly unexpected. Mrs. Breath had been seriously ill with heart ailment for the past six weeks or more. From time to time she rallied but with each succeeding attack her condition was anything but encouraging.

Funeral will take place this Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Fahey Funeral Home, Union street, with religious ceremony at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf; interment in the family burial plot at Cedar Rest cemetery, Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Breath was twice married. First to Captain W. S. Boardman, well known Mississippi river captain, owner of the steamer "Decatur," one of the well known of the palatial river packets of that time, in the early 90s. He died at the zenith his popularity and success.

On Christmas Day, 1900, she was married to Mr. Charles A. Breath, son of the late Judge and Mrs. John A. Breath. Her husband and two children by this marriage survive, namely, Mrs. Roger M. Boh and Charles A. Breath, Jr., both of Bay St. Louis.

By her former marriage two daughters, Mrs. Carl Olsen and Mrs. J. C. Roland, both of Bay St. Louis. She is also survived by two brothers, Philip Leonhard, Sr., and Albert T. Leonhard, of New Orleans. She was a sister of the late Louis Leonhard of New Orleans and Ernest J. Leonhard, of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans. Her parents were Louis Leonhard and wife Josephine Schuler, influential residents for over a half century in the Third District at New Orleans and who lived here for a number of years prior to their death.

She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Little K. Leonhard, of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Breath was easily one of the outstanding citizens of Bay St. Louis and Hancock county, active and progressive all her life. She came to Bay St. Louis when quite a young girl with her parents and identified herself with all social activities of one of her age. She was identified with yachting and boating and owned and sailed her boats. The outdoor life was hers. Her interest in boating never lagged and she has always been a moving spirit in every regatta. She was also fond of horses and owned from time to time some of the finest steeds that came to this section.

As a business woman she was not only active but successful. Engaged in the department store business she was interested in this pursuit over a long number of years.

Her business ability was further accentuated in the interest she manifested in real estate. This was one of her outstanding successes and her real estate deals were vast and always profitable. She was identified with acreage and waterfront lands and some of the largest transactions of the kind hereabouts were hers.

No project ever proposed for the benefit of the community went unheeded by her. She not only gave freely of worldly goods but much of her time was at the disposal of the people of the town which she loved so well as to live here all her adult life. Well may it be said she was a civic leader. One who inspired others to do for the community. Her interest and activity ever kept pace with her remarkable enthusiasm; not only a woman of ability but one with initiative, resourceful and ever helpful.

A list of her affiliation with community projects would indeed be one of great length. In her passing the city of Bay St. Louis has lost a potential factor for its continued growth and progress, its people a friend, and her passing causes to be sustained an irreparable loss. It may well be said she was an unusual and remarkable personality.

FARM INCOME GAINS.

THE people who write for the newspapers are cheering up the farmers with the news that agricultural income, this year, bids fair to excel any recent year, with the possible exception of 1937.

It is about the same as reporting that the temperature of a patient has dropped from 104 to 103!

Farm income in the United States is running this year about eighty per cent of parity and parity gives the people on our farms slightly more than one-fourth of the population, less than one-seventh of the national income.

Frankly, there is no magical method to restore prosperity to the nation's farmers. It will be a matter of some years, at least. Meanwhile, the national economic machine is out of balance and the entire country continues to suffer.

AN ACCIDENT AND FOOTBALL.

THE family of Donald Grant Herring, Princeton University football player, who suffered the loss of a leg after an injury received in a game, expresses the hope that the accident will not result in a foolish outcry against football.

Naturally, everyone familiar with the incident will regret that a young American has lost a limb in an athletic contest. However, this is hardly sufficient to condemn football, which, with all of its successes, has become a national institution.

The automobiles of the United States kill more than 100 individuals every day. No one seriously proposes, as a result, to prohibit the use of automobiles in the United States. Consequently, until other hazards are removed from life, there is no reason to pick on football.

CHRISTMAS DECORATION FOR BUSINESS.

IT is not too early to think and plan Christmas decorations. Gulfport and Biloxi last year decorated business streets overhead with thousands of colored electric bulbs and in addition to the stroke of enterprise it was on part of merchants and others the effect was for more and better Christmas spirit and the amount of extra shopping from local and out-of-town buyers more than paid for the actual cost. It's good business. In some towns merchants do not have the slightest outdoor holiday decorations. Comment unnecessary. It all comes under the head of advertising. And no business can successfully carry on without it.

ELEANOR TO GIVE HANDKERCHIEFS

MRS. Roosevelt has given a good example of "do your Christmas shopping early." Recently in New York she purchased one hundred dozen handkerchiefs to give to personal friends. She told a reporter three will go in a box and a box to each friend.

BAPTISTS ASSEMBLE THIS WEEK.

OVER three thousand Baptists assembled in Jackson this week in annual convention. In numbers Baptists form the predominating religious denomination in the State.

WONDER IF THE CUBBARD IS BARE.

GOV. and Mrs. Hugh L. White will vacate the mansion before January 15 in order Gov. and Mrs. Johnson may be settled before the inauguration a custom which naturally must be appreciated by the incoming first family. It is stated much of the furniture, linens, etc., belong to the White family personally and the mansion will be somewhat bare.

SUSPECT.

THE hub-bub raised in this country when the President changed Thanksgiving Day from the fifth to the fourth Thursday of this month would lead one to suspect that Americans can be thankful upon only one day and that it must coincide with the football schedules that were made last year.

The Gulfport Guide, newsy and brilliantly-edited weekly newspaper of Clayton Rand, has temporarily suspended publication, according to announcement in that newspaper. No reason is assigned. But the fact is well known that the cost of getting out a newspaper is tremendously heavy compared to the revenue received and as a result many newspapers over the country are going out of business. We hope the suspension, however, is only temporary, and that the Guide will make a comeback. It is one of the potential publications of the State with a national reputation.

If every letter leaving the Bay St. Louis postoffice would carry a line or paragraph boosting the Gulf Coast it would prove an advertising media covering a wide area.

Boosting the Mississippi Gulf Coast is, in the last analysis, boosting one's own interest. We have plenty to boast of.

The prime function of every citizen of Bay St. Louis is to improve this community. This can be done by improving one's self.

THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS.

SOME of the people of the United States will celebrate Thanksgiving Day on the twenty-third and others will wait a week later but all will give expression to grateful appreciation of blessings from a Supreme Being.

The people of this great nation have much to be thankful for. Blessed with immense wealth, as compared to other peoples and enjoying the benefits that come from vast natural resources, we have every reason to give a day of the year to the solemn ceremony of returning sincere acknowledgment to God for the bounty that has been poured out upon the United States of America.

The liberty that is enjoyed in this country contrasts strangely with the tyranny that runs rampant in many lands. This great gift to the individual comes to us without much exertion on our part and most of us enjoy freedom as a gift from those who have preceded us in the world. Naturally, if one reflects at all, there is bound to be an appreciation of this great boon and a desire to express the feeling in services dedicated to the Giver of all gifts.

WHILE the United States and its people have suffered material losses in the last decade our come-back is assured, because of the unbounded resources that nature has made available to us. The utilization of the fruits of the earth by the present generation is often foolishly extravagant but, nevertheless, they explain the many comforts and conveniences that are ours.

Every individual who acknowledges a Supreme Being, must recognize the blessings that come to him, or her, in the course of a year. While we humbly worship our Creator at all times it is fitting that on Thanksgiving Day we give particular expression to his sentiment in a public and official manner. Unfortunately, the significance of Thanksgiving has become lost to some individuals who take it in stride as another holiday but this cannot vitiate the occasion for others.

In Bay St. Louis the people will reverently turn their eyes toward the Heavens, from whence cometh their all, and fervently give thanks to God for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, which is being attained in a large manner by more and more of our people.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE.

THE defeat of the old-age pension plan in Ohio and California should be gratifying to many citizens who are intensely interested in the welfare of the old age group in the United States.

The proposed beneficiaries of the schemes which have been defeated should not feel that they have been denied an income which their State could afford. The fact is, according to much expert opinion, extremely doubtful. Whether Ohio and California, or any other State, can finance a scheme of old age pension that provides such payments to the old-age group is, to say the least, uncertain.

No one should lose sight of the fact that the United States Government in cooperation with the states, has set up the machinery to provide old-age assistance and that already thousands of individuals are receiving aid under our present Social Security laws. If larger payments are feasible, all that is necessary is to amend the present statute. It may be taken for granted that as soon as the great majority of the people of this country are convinced of the soundness of larger payments, they will be forthcoming.

AIRPLANE INDUSTRY BOOMS.

THE airplane industry in the United States seems to be in line for the greatest expansion possible, with combatant and neutral nations falling over each other in an effort to contract for American-built war-planes.

While the war business will not last always it may be the means of expanding the aircraft industry to the place where the production of planes will be cheaper than ever and thus speed the development of the flivver plane which will make the airplane the rival of the automobile.

This may seem like a rash prediction but mass production of automobiles has cut the cost to such a price that the United States has enough automobiles to carry the entire population at the same time. If mass production of airplanes result in the same reduction in prices there will be a larger market than ever for peace-time airplanes.

NO GOOSE STEP IN U. S.

WE in this country," said Congressman Wm. M. Colmer, during an Armistice Day address at Gulfport, said "thank God we do not have to goose-step or otherwise march at the bidding of any dictator."

His address was highly patriotic, sane and logical and was decidedly a contribution to the Armistice Day addresses of the country.

In concluding he said that there is no question about the determination of the American people today to maintain a strict neutrality in this present world chaos of arms. "Let us continue in that laudatory determination and unite as one great and powerful people continue to pursue the paths of peace with the help of Him who guides the destinies of men, the God of our fathers," he concluded.

TWO THANKSGIVINGS FOR BAY ST. LOUIS.

EQUAL to any emergency, Bay St. Louis Commission Council has officially declared two Thanksgiving Days according to proclamation published elsewhere in the columns of The Echo, Nov. 23 and 30.

This definitely settles a somewhat complex situation and will give opportunity for two days of Thanksgiving instead of one, two holidays and two days to attend football.

What a glorious country we live in! Just to show how hope wells up in the human breast, there are citizens of Bay St. Louis who are already planning their Spring gardens.

Beautification of Bay St. Louis depends upon what each lot-owner does. What do you plan to do?

Hollywood Notes.

"GONE With the Wind," the motion picture of Margaret Mitchell's world-famous novel, will have its premiere in Atlanta, Ga., on December 15th. Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh and other stars in this technicolor production will be in Atlanta for personal appearances. The picture requires three hours and 40 minutes for showing.

Almost 100,000 persons saw "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" during the first four days' presentation in New York City at the Music Hall.

Alfred Reeves, publicity man to Charlie Chaplain, has one of the toughest jobs in Hollywood—keeping his boss's name and activities out of the papers. Chaplain's current picture, "The Dictator," is about half finished.

Bette Davis and her studio, Warner Brothers, have patched up their difference and the star returns to Hollywood shortly to prepare for work in "The Woman Brown," to be followed by "No Time for Comedy" and Rachel Fields' "All This and Heaven, Too."

Metro has brought screen rights to "The Dawn's Early Light," on which Dorothy Thompson, columnist, and Fritz Kortner, playwright, collaborated. It will probably be produced next Spring, with James Stewart in the role of Thomas Jefferson.

Bing Crosby's next vehicle, after completing his present "Road to Mandalay," will be "If I Had My Way," the picturization of the story by William Conselman.

RKO plans to star Anna Neagle in a screen version of "Irene," the popular Broadway musical comedy which was produced in 1919 and ran for 675 performances. It was filmed as a silent picture in 1926, with Colleen Moore.

It was quite an improvement when a bit player whose real name was Jean Jane Jan June Jones changed her name to plain Betty Brooks.

News was recently received that Leslie Howard, British stage and screen star, was badly injured in an automobile accident during a blackout in London. The actor lost three front teeth, suffered a fractured jaw, head and chest injuries.

Susanna Foster newest 14-year-old singing star, who made her screen debut in Paramount's "The Great Victor Herbert," sings her numbers in her unusual B-flat above high-C range.

Greta Garbo created quite a stir in mercantile circles in Los Angeles recently when she ordered her extensive purchases delivered to a house in Santa Monica from which she had moved six months ago. Studios couldn't help out, because they never divulge the addresses of stars and Garbo had departed for a vacation in the desert.

Before Don Ameche would agree to appear with Claudette Colbert in "I Want a Divorce," Paramount had to promise that the film, in spite of its title, would be a preachment against divorce. Ameche is an ardent Catholic.

PASS CHRISTIAN TOWN FIXES TAX LEVY FOR NEW YEAR, 1939-1940.

Millage Declared at 32 Mills With General Fund Same As Last Year.

The Pass Christian Mayor and Board of Aldermen Thursday night fixed the levy for 1939 taxes at 32 mills, to be divided as follows: General fund, 10 mills; school fund, 11 mills; miscellaneous bond and interest fund, 8 mills; fire department, 3 mills.

There was no increase this year in the general fund of 10 mills which defrays the cost of operating the city including the salaries of all officials, police department, upkeep of municipal buildings, streets, drainage, lighting system, municipal pier, insurance on public buildings and other miscellaneous items.

It was pointed out that the 10 mills for the general purposes is less than one-third of the city's levy. The board adopted a resolution deploring the death last week of Alderman James R. Smith. This resolution was spread upon the minutes and copies ordered sent to relatives.

A Plea For the Poinsettia.

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Nov. 13, 1939.

Editor Sea Coast Echo:

Touring our town just now one sees many places bright with poinsettia. So well do they grow here, practically wild after once planted, it is surprising our people do not plant them in profusion. They grow rapidly and from cutting.

There are several species of poinsettia the earlier blooming variety and the kind producing a larger blossom and of scarlet color. In planting it is well to select the better kind—referred to above. They grow first as easily as dauber and grow just as easily and bear prolifically as the less favored kind. By planting and growing the early blooming variety one is more apt to escape the freeze and killing frost that comes later in the season.

I write this as a plea for the poinsettia for I know of no plant that gives so much for practically no care. Noting your paper is for a better and more attractive Bay St. Louis, you will grant space for this communication. It might not only start one or more people to thinking but to doing.

Respectfully,

A GARDEN LOVER.

Spencer Tracy Superb As Greatest Newspaper Man In Stanley and Livingstone.

The greatest adventure known to man will be thrillingly reconstructed on the screen of the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Stanley and Livingstone," with twice Academy Award winning Spencer Tracy turning in another masterful performance, co-starred with Nancy Kelly and Richard Greene at the head of one of the greatest acting casts ever assembled.

When Tracy, in the role of Henry M. Stanley, the crack young reporter on the old New York Herald, spoke those famous words, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume?" in the heart of Africa, drama's most thrilling moment was stirring re-enacted in this spectacular 20th Century-Fox film.

Producer Zanuck his associate producer, Kenneth Macgowan, and his director, Henry King, all sticklers for realism, insured a true and authentic picture of the thrilling adventure and the heroic adventurer who faced all the nameless dangers of unknown Africa—heat, fever, cannibals, jungle—when his fiery and dynamic publisher, James Gordon Bennett, gave him that memorable assignment, "Find Livingstone!"

The film shows Stanley first as he was in 1869, a hard-boiled reporter of bulldog tenacity who willingly risked his neck to get his story! The chief romantic interest of the story is carried by Nancy Kelly, as the lovely daughter of the English consular agent at Zanzibar and Richard Greene, as the son of Lord Tyce, who had just returned, fever-racked, from a similar but unsuccessful expedition.

Walter Brennan is grand as the old Indian scout who accompanies Stanley; Charles Coburn is splendid as Lord Tyce, the pompous publisher of the London Globe; Sir Cedric Hardwicke offers a truly great portrayal of Dr. Livingstone; Henry Hull brings James Gordon Bennett back to vivid life; and Henry Travers is superb as the English consular agent whom Africa has aged before his time.

Three years in the making, much of the film was shot in the actual locale in Africa.

Armistice Day Address

By DAN M. RUSSELL, JR., Bay Saint Louis, Miss.

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Various Organizations represented, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The brightest pages of a nation's history are those which are illumined by the names of those who have made the nation great—those who have dedicated their powers to the promotion of its peace and prosperity, and who have sacrificed their lives in the defense of its principles and its people.

High upon that Roll of Honor as recorded by the American historian stands forth in bold relief the names of the immortal founders of this republic, who welded in their blood from Bunkerhill through Valley Forge to Yorktown to make the new world safe for Democracy. Time has not dimmed the glory that clusters about their names; age has not obscured the grandeur of their deeds. For almost a century and a half this republic, which stood as a magnificent monument to its patriotic founders and defenders, was at once the admiration of the world, and a prosperous and happy people were enjoying the full fruition of its free institutions, and the inalienable right to enjoy mutual intercourse with all peoples everywhere unmolested and unafraid. Never was that right challenged until the somewhat recent past when the arch autocrat of all the world strode forth like a mighty Goliath, armed to the teeth, disputing the right of the American people to exercise their right of free intercourse with all nations, and challenging democracy to the combat.

To counteract such a formidable blow America in 1917 set herself with an energy and zeal worthy of her founders in 1776, sent out the clarion call for defense. From the flower of American manhood from Maine to Mexico came back the deafening chorus, answering: "Here am I, send me." From country, town and city arose the stalwart young manhood of the land ready to do and dare and die to defend home and country and aid in making the world safe for democracy. Ere long we followed them to the transport and waived them goodbye as they would swing out with a smile, singing, "Over there, over there." "And we won't be back home till it's over, over there."

Ladies and gentlemen, you are familiar with the account of the battles of Chateau-Thierry; of the battle of the Marne; and of the other major battles where the khaki-colored lines heroically faced the Hun and turning the tide of battle. The boys in khaki saw before them for the first time series masses of men and glittering steel, and a veritable inferno approaching. They paused; they listened; from far away Belgium, through the din of thundering cannon they caught the echo of Rachel weeping for her children torn from Mother's breast; the picture of Picardy and Flanders floated before their eyes; the memory of home and the last scenes there, and the last promises spoken, played like a mirage before them. They looked above and beheld "Old Glory" proudly, defiantly, waving 3,000 miles from home without ever a stain to the dust of defeat on her fair folds, but shining serene and resplendent, the emblem of democracy and victory everywhere.

Girding themselves with a superhuman strength and courage they hurled into the frowning face of the enemy their defiant, "You shall not pass." The immortal marines and regulars led the attack with a dash and daring that was absolutely overwhelming. America never yielded an inch of ground but compelled the Hun to retrace his steps never to advance again. Glorious, gallant Americans.

Never in human history has a soldiery tasted such terrors, encountered such fiendish barbarities, nor met a more formidable foe than the in-pendence of Americans who followed Pershing through the battlefields of France; never has a soldiery more worthily won the lasting gratitude and honor of a grateful people.

We delight to honor them—one and all—the living and dead. We wreath the lasting laurels about the brows of our brave boys as they returned to the hearthstones where the "Home fires" were kept burning. We rejoice that they with glad hands and grateful hearts, and pay lasting tribute to them who were fortunate enough to return and survive today, for their names shall shine on the brightest pages of our history.

We also pause today with bowed heads and brimming hearts to pay current jelly on each.

Quails on Toast

Wipe dressed quails inside and out with a damp cloth. Put 1 spoonful of highly seasoned dressing in each bird. Truss carefully, letting legs stand up instead of down, as with a chicken. Tie a thin slice of bacon around each leg. Roast in a hot oven 15 or 20 minutes. Baste frequently with a mixture of butter, hot water, salt and pepper. Serve on slices of toast, moistened with the broth from the quails. Garnish with parsley and green grape jelly.

Broiled Quail

Wrap thin strips of bacon around the quail and broil under hot fire 8 to 10 minutes. Remove strips. Serve on toast, stripped with broiled bacon. Use a sauce of melted butter, lemon juice and chopped parsley.

Roast Wild Dove

6 wild doves
¼ cup diced seeded green peppers
¼ cup chopped peeled onion
4 tablespoons butter
2 cups cooked stoned olives
½ cup canned mushrooms
¼ cup hot water

Dress and clean the doves. Cook with the green pepper and onions in 2 tablespoons of butter until tender.

homage to those 70,000 boys who failed to return, and who, today, are silently sleeping under some mound somewhere in France." They made the supreme sacrifice. They have passed beyond the clamor of the multitudes, of the pealing peace bells—beyond the voice of loved ones and the touch of hands held dear. They sleep in the bosom of France, the land redeemed by their own precious blood. But somebody knows where it was shed—the calvary where today we again hear the clarion call of war. Unknown to us are most of them, and unknown to them were the greatness and glory of their deeds in Flanders Field. But somebody knows them. Somebody loves them.

But I would bring to those who do console loved ones today the glad assurance that our own government and the French found a beautiful plot of ground on the lilled hillsides of France to be the cities of our heroes and dead. A modest white cross and a medal mark each grave, and the name is inscribed on the cross where it is known. May the poppies rest lightly upon those graves.

"Rest on embalmed and sainted dead! Dear as the blood you gave, No impious footstep shall tread The herbage of your grave."

As we this morning think of the Army of the Allied Lead it seems that we can faintly hear the voice of a hero who gave his life in that great cause, and as he stands by his silent grave in Flanders Field he seems to utter this dying message to those he left behind:

"In Flanders fields
The poppies blow
Between the crosses,
That mark our place;
And in the sky
The larks still bravely
sing
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.

We are the dead.
Short days ago we lived,
Felt dawn,
Saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved,
And now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up the quarrel
with the foe.
To you from falling hands
We throw the Torch—
Be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith
with us who die,
We shall not sleep,
Though poppies grow
In Flanders fields."

As we today celebrate Armistice Day we cannot help realizing that those tender voices we seem to hear emanating from Flanders Field have been somewhat hushed for twenty-one long years, hoping that the cause they so bravely fought for was a closed issue, and that Armistice which was signed following that great strife twenty-one years ago, had put an end to all wars and that a lasting peace had been established.

But today brazen-throated war bugles are blowing again "over there," as they once blew to summon the flower of American manhood to his death in France. Their distant quire of his resting place with haunting doubts of what this new war may portend, with dread that it, too, may reach into American firefired groups for victims despite everything a nation still dedicated to peace can do to avert that fate.

I think that I speak for everyone present here this morning when I say that it is our hope, our prayer, that America will not have to contribute its youth to the great conflict that is raging at the present time in Europe. (That the Armistice signed in 1918 is a lasting one as far as America is concerned. To those gallant warriors who gave their life, and in whose absence we celebrate today, I might say that generation after generation shall continue to rise up to call them blessed. Their names shall shine in history with increasing lustre as the imperishable fruits of their service and sacrifice will be manifested more and more until freedom's full and perfect day has come. Imperishable are the deeds, immortal is the memory of the men who lie where the freedom of the world was won. Blessed memory. Holy ground! There will be a rare parade "Over there" on Judgment Day of the finest youth and the truest chivalry that ever answered to roll call. Soft be their sleep till that reveille!

Add the rice, olives, mushrooms and paprika. Mix well. Add additional melted butter if not sufficiently moist. Stuff the doves with this mixture. Place them on an uncovered roasting pan and roast in an oven 450 degrees for 5 minutes then reduce heat, at 350 degrees and roast for 30 minutes or until tender, basting frequently with a mixture of 2 tablespoons of the butter and the hot water. At the end of the roasting time, sprinkle each dove with flour and brown lightly for about 3 minutes in a hot oven.

Sauce For Game

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
Cayenne

Melt butter, add flour and salt. When well mixed add all of the cold sour cream at once. Boil until thick or creamy. This is an unusually piquant sauce to serve with game.

Fried Squirrel

Cut squirrel into pieces for serving. Cover with salted water, let stand overnight. Drain. If the squirrel is not tender, parboil for 10 minutes. Drain. Roll in flour and fry in cooking fat. Make a brown gravy—garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

BAY CITY METHODISTS JOIN WITH GULFPORT IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

One Hundredth and Twenty-Seventh Meeting of Church Covering South Mississippi—Meeting This Wednesday, to Adjourn Sunday—List of New Assignments To Be Given Out.

The Rev. Andrew J. Boyles, pastor First Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, and associates are attending the 127 session of the Mississippi Annual Conference covering the southern half of Mississippi, in session this week at Gulfport from Wednesday, November 15 to Sunday, 19.

On the last day the pastors will probably receive their appointments for another year, assigning each for another twelve-month period. "Since I have served for only three years," says the Rev. Boyles, local pastor, "I am expecting to be returned to Bay St. Louis for another year." The understanding is that the limit of time in any one place is four years.

The Conference is composed of 207 preachers, active and supernumerary; 16 supply preachers; 111 local preachers, and 160 lay delegates.

The following named boards and committees are attending the session, namely: Commission on Budget; Board of Missions; Board of Finance; Board of Christian Education; Board of Christian Literature; Bible Board; Commission on Evangelism; Committee on Admission; Commission on Trial; Commission on First Year; Commission on Second Year; Commission on Third Year; Commission on Fourth Year; Orphans Home Commission; Commission on Ministerial Training; Historical Society; Commission on Curators; Historical Commission; Hawkins Foundation; Trustees Methodist Hospital; Trustees Conference Endowment Fund; Board of Control Memorial Home; Publishing Committee; Committee on Evangelism and many special committees.

These delegates, with many general officers, entered into the first general business session Wednesday evening, November 15 at 7:30 o'clock, at the First Methodist Church, Gulfport, with Bishop William T. Watkins of Atlanta, Ga., and Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, of Jackson, Miss.

Twenty-five or more delegates from Gulfport are spending the evenings in Bay St. Louis homes and "many more will be in and out to see us," says the Rev. Boyles.

To Speak Here Sunday
Dr. M. L. Smith, Ph.D., president of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., will speak in our Bay St. Louis Church Sunday, November 19, at 11 A. M. The public is invited to hear him. There will be no services at the 7:30 hour. Church Schools at the regular hour.

The earnest hope is expressed here that the Reverend Boyles will be re-assigned to Bay St. Louis. He has accomplished great work in the local field, in his church and he is one of the most likable and democratic churchmen we have known. The community will concur in this.

Mothers Help Girls

When girls are weak, run-down, nervous, subject to periodic pains, many a mother knows those may be only symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition which many find are relieved by CARDUI. It helps build physical resistance through improved appetite and digestion. Also reported by many is that CARDUI, taken just before and during "the time," helps to ease the pain.

New York, N. TRAINS TO COAST 'FILTHY, UNSAFE,' SAY COMMUTERS

Charges that the Louisville and Nashville railroad is using antiquated, unsanitary and unsafe equipment on trains for commuters and excursions were contained in a complaint filed with the Louisiana public service commission Friday on behalf of the Mississippi Coast-New Orleans Association.

James O'Connor, Jr., New Orleans member of the public service commission, who accepted the complaint for docketing, stated that a hearing on the charges will be held December 4.

S. Sanford Levy, attorney, presented the complaint to Mr. O'Connor. It was signed by Edward Schwartz, president of the association.

The complaint charges rates for commutation are excessive, that the railroad's service is not adequate to provide for the comfort and convenience of commuters despite their repeated protests, and on the commuters' trains and on excursion trains are "antiquated old, broken, patched and entirely unsafe."

Some of the coaches, according to the complaint, are of wooden construction and in many instances are more than twenty years old, and many of the coaches are without doors from the platforms; and have windows that "may not be opened."

Some of the coaches operated by the railroad between New Orleans and the Gulf coast are a "serious menace to health," the association charged, because of a lack of sanitation and failure to provide proper ventilation.

The complaint further charged that the coaches are "so filthy as to make it necessary for the passengers to carry papers, clothes, covers, cushions and other similar devices with which to cover the seats, in order to make it possible to sit thereon and arrive at their destination in a presentable condition."

Locomotives used on commuters' trains are so antiquated that they "continually emit dirt, soot and cinders" which enter the coaches, "covering the passengers with dirt," it was further charged.

The association objected to stations along the line in Louisiana as "antiquated, dirty, unsanitary." Specific mention was made of the New Orleans station.

Duck Hunting Season Opened Wednesday Morning at 7 O'Clock.

Season for duck hunting opened at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and Hancock County Warden Randolph Bourgeois says there were many hunters in the Lakeshore vicinity ready for the hunt long before the appointed hour. However, not a shot was fired until the appointed hour by law.

Game Warden Bourgeois informs The Echo that there is plenty of duck and the same report by radio came out from headquarters in New Orleans. Mississippi game laws are framed with a view of conserving game and, if enforced to the very letter as it is in this county, there will be ample game for all in the future. The slaughter of former years has proven disastrous and the time for halt was timely.

—Mrs. George Guilbault is requesting that persons wishing to join the choir of Our Lady of the Gulf Church get in touch with Miss Louise Armstrong, Father A. J. Gmelch or Mrs. Guilbault, who is director, and as there will be a practice at the church at 7 o'clock on Thursday evening. There was a nice response to Father Gmelch's first request for volunteers for a choir and it is hoped that persons able to sing will offer their voices for church services, the lack of a choir in our church being greatly felt in the past few years, and the size of our congregation being such as to warrant that enough talent among it can certainly be found with which to organize a choir.

MISS. QUAIL HUNTING SEASON OPENS NOV. 30

Regardless of Conflicting Dates Fixed For Observance of Thanksgiving.

Mississippi's hunting season on quail opens Thursday, November 30, regardless of the conflicting dates fixed for observance of Thanksgiving, according to officials of the State Game and Fish Commission. Under the law, the season on quail is set for opening on Thanksgiving, and under the same law, the date for observance of this day is fixed legally as the last Thursday in November, which falls on November 30.

Backing up the conservation officials in opinion from J. A. Lauderdale, assistant attorney general, issued on the request of W. F. Deurman, director of the Game and Fish "Section 5021, code of 1930, provides that the last Thursday in November is Thanksgiving Day and that said day is a holiday," said Mr. Lauderdale. "Chapter 365, laws of 1934, provides that the open season on quail or bobwhite shall be from Thanksgiving to January 31, next following, inclusive." Inasmuch as Thanksgiving Day is fixed by our statute as the last Thursday in November, the proclamation of the president and governor, providing that Thanksgiving Day this year shall be observed on November 23, will not in any way affect the open season on quail or bobwhite."
